

Advisory Service Summary

Why Invest in Business Intelligence?

Business Intelligence (BI) is achieved through access to meaningful and timely information through the implementation of interactive dashboards.

The availability of such information allows an organisation's leaders to make informed decisions regarding the strategy and operations of the organisation, which are not based on speculation or opinion.

BI provides credible facts backed up with evidence and actual organisational data. BI drives continuous improvement by identifying problems and opportunities, ultimately improving efficiency and effectiveness, and enhancing customer experience.

The initial engagement

At our FREE initial engagement, we will discuss with you:

- Your specific business requirements
- The data that you are wishing to visualise
- The location of that data
- How the data is currently used
- Any corporate reporting requirements
- Your current suite of IT products in use (soft and hardware)

Based on the initial meeting and the information discussed, an implementation proposal and quote will be provided for your review.

What sets us apart

The Blackbird Advisory team have built their capacity in the data analysis/BI space and combining this with the wider Blackbird IT team's expertise in corporate systems, data management, and data language; we are equipped to work collaboratively with your team to build a suite of business intelligence dashboards.

Being part of a Managed Service Provider places us in a position to not only offer strategic consulting services backed by technical knowledge, but we can also confidently implement the recommended solution/s, and offer ongoing BI management and change services, including offering bespoke tailored training to your staff.

What next

We work collaboratively with clients to achieve an optimal balance between time, cost, and quality of outcomes. If you are looking for a Business Intelligence solution and like the sound of how we work, then get in touch!

Who we are

Blackbird IT exists to facilitate and empower our staff and customers to realise their potential.

We strategically implement technology in organisations across the country, delivering precise IT recommendations to suit users, industry, budget, and goals.

You're after great business results. We're out to help you achieve it. We design and implement key technology solutions and align their benefits to business outcomes such as productivity, compliance, and risk mitigation.

Our expertise

We are resourced with highly experienced advisors, engineers, IT specialists, and project managers.

They have extensive experience with continuous improvement processes, regulatory compliance, and risk management in high regulated and fast passed industries.

Our greatest resources are the expertise of our people, the customer first culture in which we operate and our core values that our team embodies.
